

Neurological Integration System

NIS uses the brain's ability to take control of the body and effect repairs to the entire system.

NIS is a profound system of healthcare, which uses the only 100% accurate diagnostic tool available on the planet – the brain. NIS uses the brain's ability to re-establish control over the body and correct the pain or illness. Once the brain understands about all abnormal activity, it can correct it. When this takes place, optimum function is restored to all body systems.

How Does It Work

NIS uses the brain's profound ability to restore the body and all its systems to full potential. The brain must be in control of all body function to resolve underlying causes of pain, ill-health and disease, to achieve sustainable results and to get the body working at its optimum potential. NIS is the system which allows the brain to re-establish control over the body and correct the pain or illness.

The Treatment

Your initial visit will start with a review of your medical history and current complaints. Your practitioner will then ask you to lie fully clothed on a treatment table and he will hold different parts of your body to activate various 'circuits'. To determine if the various circuits are intact or not, the practitioner will use a muscle test. If the circuit is broken, the muscle will lose strength.

In most cases, to correct the problem, your practitioner will make contact with points on the body or you will be asked to hold these points yourself. Your practitioner will then tap on your head in specific places to ensure the brain is getting the message. NIS treatment is tailor-made for you.

The Benefits

Many people are able to testify to life-changing results they have received through NIS. Illness that have persisted for years will begin to dissipate and eventually disappear altogether as NIS addresses the underlying issues, not just the symptoms. When all your body's systems are working in unison, you will begin to feel better. You will suffer less from colds and flu and be more resilient to disease. Your brain holds the key to your optimum health.

Results You Can Expect

This is all dependent on the nature of your complaint. In some cases you may feel a little tired. This is because the body will be a lot more relaxed. If you are treated for an infection, either viral, bacteria or fungal one can expect some fatigue for a few days as the body eliminates the infection from the system. In some cases patients will report a decrease in pain level even before leaving a NIS session.
